

JUNIOR CITY ECHOES

THE town is radiant with pointsettias. We are competing with St. Augustine, Fla.

Dr. Horton has a new coupe to be used in his practice. By reason of his long residence he is the dean of practitioners.

W. J. Harrison is building a retaining wall to his property known as Porter's Service Station, which property he owns.

The Merchants Bank and Trust Company executed the first loan under the federal housing act this week.

Bay Scout boys attended Tulane-Sewanee football game at New Orleans Saturday. They went by school bus and enjoyed the day just as a bunch of boy scouts would.

W. J. Gex, Jr., has a bird cage, with light within, and the wire electrically charged, kills all flying insects by night. The light attracts, the live wire slays and the fish thus freed by fallen bugs in the pond below.

Bay St. Louis has 17 grocery stores. Since this was written, however, the number is augmented to 20. Can you beat this.

City janitor, "P. T." Carver has the finest collections of geraniums over at the City Hall.

The end of the summer season did not mean the end of flowers for the Ames and Gaspard garden. Chrysanthemum blossoms in numberless masses decorate the garden beds. Mr. Charles Zerr is a born horticulturist. His secret is work.

"Manhattan Melodrama," with Powell and Myrna Loy, is billed for early presentation at the local A. & G. Theater. This is the picture that Dillinger viewed in Chicago and was coming out of the theater when apprehended and killed.

For no special reason assigned the pecan crop is short in the Bay St. Louis section this year. In places trees are almost barren.

Mollere's store windows for Thanksgiving week were the best decorated yet and attracted the admiration of people who know.

Short time certificates to have been issued by the city to meet outstanding obligations, as recorded in these columns, will not be issued because of a legal technicality. Another measure of relief is being considered.

Sufficient monies for the restoration of "Our Lady of the Woods," shrine at St. Joseph Academy has not been collected. Further donations may be sent or left at the convent.

Church of Our Lady of the Gulf has distributed weekly contribution envelopes to parishioners who pledge to give so much regularly. This is the beginning of the new year following the first which realized a sum of over $3,000 and went to the debt fund, etc.

Bay St. Louis banks mailed Christmas checks Wednesday the day preceding Thanksgiving, a very appropriate time, indeed.

Second number of Student Prints, high school paper is off from press and exceeds first issue by far. The literary, variety of articles and general completeness of the publication is cause for favorable comment.

Now that Thanksgiving is of the things of the past, let us look forward to Christmas. Plenty of zest, enthusiasm and general animation will form a spirit worthy of the worldwide event. Christmas, after all, is just what one will make it.

December 8 is set as the date for appearance of the new Ford. It is said to carry many new features and will be a better car than model '34. This is hard to believe. We thought the Ford had well reached the height of perfection.

Cassidy's Drug Store has a new clock in the Atlas show windows, advertising McKesson remedies. It is animated with light and action and attracts more than ordinary attention.

A backyard contest would be quite interesting and result in cleaning a number that harbor tin cans and accumulated rubbish in place where a sanitary spot of lawn and flowers might grow instead.

Tomorrow—Saturday, December 1, licenses for automobiles and trucks will fall due for the new year. Such tax and tags may be secured only during the month of December. To do so in January will mean added tax or damages.

Visitors to Port's filling station, particularly the children are interested and amused by a collection of squirrels housed in a cage enclosure of some size.

What could make a more acceptable Christmas car for the wife and family than a new car. This is the gift supreme.

Several new dwellings are in course of construction over town. And best of all quite a number more are for early completion of construction. 1935 should witness an extensive building and repairing program for the city.

State Highway Com. J. F. Thames Visits Bay Saint Louis and the Public

State Commissioner J. F. Thames, State Highway Commissioner for the southern district of Mississippi, was an official visitor to Bay St. Louis and public a few days ago and called on The Sea Coast Echo.

Mr. Thames' attention was again called to the condition of the Bay-bi-county bridge and said he had giving the matter considerable attention. Regarding the loose decking, he said an extensive experiment had been made spiking the loose timbers but that this proved of no success. However, the commission had decided to use heavy cleats and he felt sure this would prove effective and lasting.

Told of the rumbling noise heard all hours of the night while passing autos seemingly were tearing up the structure, he expressed surprise at the noise and nuisance thus constituted. He said he knew the timbers were loose in places but had never heard of the noise that proved a nuisance during hours of slumber. "This must cease at once," he said, and upon my return to headquarters I shall exert every effort to remedy this nuisance to the public at a time when they are most in need of their rest and slumber."

He said the lack of funds and opposition from higher authority did not prove conducive to quicken work and as a result the public, in turn, were the sufferers. He left fully determined to remedy the condition of the Bay bi-county bridge.

AUTUMN'S GIFT

OH see the gift from nature's hand,
Magic or fingers deft;
A beauteous dream over the land,
In ev'ry place is left.

A scarlet banner all aflame,
Twined in a ring of gold;
Colors so varied, none the same,
In ev'ry tint unfold.

On rock and wood and on the stream,
In canyon, mount and hill;
Through spangles of each sunlit gleam,
Her fairy charm doth spill.

A carnival unto the eye,
Of life and death combined;
A panorama neath the sky,
In ev'ry joy entwined.

NEW HEAD FOR L. & N. SELECTED

James P. Hill, President of Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Chosen To Succeed Late W. R. Cole

James B. Hill, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad Co., has been elected president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, succeeding the late W. R. Cole, it was announced by the Associated Press from New York Tuesday. He also was elected as president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis.

The two railroads have had close working agreements for a number of years and the L. & N. owns a substantial financial interest in the N. C. and St. L., including $18,374,700 in capital stock. The late Mr. Cole, whom Mr. Hill succeeds, was a member of the executive committee of the N. C. & St. L.

Mr. Cole died on November 17 after a long period of service with the Louisville and Nashville.

"FAIR FORM FLIER," POWER PROPELLED YACHT VISITS BAY

Pleasure Craft, Owned by Allen, Winter Resident, Covers Trip From Chicago

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Allen, who reside at their country villa at Wheaton, Ill., and spend the winter at their Bay St. Louis beach villa (formerly the Mazaret place) recently covered the trip South in their pleasure power yacht, the "Fair Form Flier," down the Mississippi river. Stopping at various points along the route, visiting the larger cities and Mr. Allen playing golf at various points, the trip was enjoyed as one of the most ideal.

The "Fair Form Flier" measures 45 feet by 11½ and is equipped with two 2-h. p. Kermath engines, and able to cover a speed of 27 miles an hour or better. The vessel is thoroughly equipped and carried first-class sleeping and living quarters for eight people, in addition to the crew. At present the boat is housed in the boat house of Mr. Rudy O'Dwyer, mouth of Jordan river. Later, possibly some time after the holidays, Mr. and Mrs. Allen will take a cruise down to Florida for a few weeks, after which they plan to return to Bay St. Louis to spend the balance of the winter. Their winter home is where the warmth of hospitality ever glows.

In the Interest of Lighting Contract of City Expiring Jan. 1

Representatives of the Mississippi Power Company from Gulfport were in Bay St. Louis during the week conferring with members of Board of Mayor and City Commissioners.

Contract for the illumination of city streets by electricity will expire January 1 and the city fathers are exerting every effort to get a better contract for taxpayers. One that will be more advantageous both as to lighting and also price.

The Mississippi Power Company appears to be very amenable to reason and willing to do their part in co-operation with the city. But there are many details and technicalities to be worked out and agreements reached. The matter was to have been decided and contract signed next Monday, regular monthly meeting day of the Board. The Power Company, however, have asked for a short extension of time and the matter will no doubt be settled at the middle-of-the-month meeting.

LOCAL PERFORMERS SCORE HEAVILY IN 3-ACT PRODUCTION

Look Out Lizzie Interpreted By Competent Cast of Bay St. Louis Players

Although a crowded house had assembled to greet the presentation of "Look Out Lizzie" Friday evening of last week at St. Joseph's Academy Gym, it was a pity there were not many more to have enjoyed the excellence of the production and the fine work of its players.

It was the first play we have had here for some time and since such performances are getting rare all the time it seems one would take advantage to attend whenever possible. Surely the low price of admission would not keep one away.

"Look Out, Lizzie" is a three-act rural comedy, filled with situations that proved engaging from beginning to end.

Mr. C. A. Gordon, an old farmer, and Mrs. C. M. Weeks, "Sarah," his wife, in addition to Minnie Hill, the town gossip, easily carried the show. Mr. Gordon gave an exact portrait of the part as to make it appear in reality. Mrs. Weeks as his wife was true to the part and carried the responsibilities of the family, including the love affair of their daughter, Hazel, with a dignity of patience and forbearance, yet delightfully concealing her agonizing apprehensions, in a manner that was pleasing.

Miss Katherine Scafide, as Hazel, the daughter in love with Mr. Biltmore, thought to be a society man and who proved later that he was a real shirt and sleeve man, sustained her character with even tenor all the way. Her appearance is good and personality pleasing.

Hank Blanks, the hired man, was better as the dignified butler. He carried himself in the most cheery manner and acted the character well nigh to perfection. Osmond Blaize carried the part. And since this was his first stage appearance it seems he should be encouraged and give more of his talents to the public.

Miss Mary Perkins, as Lizzie Blanks, had little or no scope in which to display her ability. Miss Perkins has been frequently seen on a hit, the local stage and always scored a hit. However, she made the most of an ungrateful part, even though it was taken from which it title was taken.

Mrs. Norton Haas, as the town gossip, kept free from a weakness that generally falls to those who essay such part. That of overdoing. She was the talkative and inquisitive gossip to a point of enough. Mrs. Haas has good enunciation and a voice that carries.

C. J. Gordon, as Richard Biltmore, the stranger, had a leading part, the dashing, young bean. But personally directing the play from behind the scene, the part demanded too much of his time and acting. However we have seen young Gordon quite often and he is of a type that would fit any part on any stage and might fill a niche as a matinee idol in a good stock company doing a weekly show.

Joe Glynn was equal to his part as the miser. His make up was good and his acting fitting the part. As a whole the play was refreshingly presented and the audience amply repaid for attendance.

The author of the play, however, might have filled many voids with side sketches apropos to the play. While we know it was not vaudeville neither a minstrel or burlesque show, but a straight play, a little embellishment in the way of sketch numbers would have improved the play considerably.

A neat sum of cash was realized and it is hoped the same cast will again favor the public with another play in the near future.

PHILOSOPHICAL ASS'N. ORGANIZED AT N. O. LAST WEEK-END, 24TH

Very Rev. Gerard Esser, S. V. D., of Bay St. Louis, Honored with Presidency

The Southern Section of the American Catholic Philosophical Association was organized last Saturday, November 24, at a meeting of the Catholic philosophers at Xavier University, New Orleans, La., presided over by the Reverend Edward F. Murphy, S. S. J., Ph. D., dean of philosophy at the University.

Very Rev. Esser Elected President

The Very Rev. Gerard Esser, S. V. D., Professor of Philosophy and Rector of St. Augustine Seminary, Bay St. Louis, Miss., discussing, "The meaning of Intelligence and Its Value for Education," held that, "man's ability to think makes him a member of the spiritual world." He outlined the difference between the human and animal intelligence and said that education should develop the spiritual which was man's particular mark. This, the Very Rev. G. Esser, S. V. D., said, is the end of Catholic education.

The Very Reverend G. Esser, S. V. D., was elected president of the Southern Catholic Philosophical Association. Other officers chosen are: The Rev. John Lundergan, S. S. J., of Beaumont, Texas, secretary; the Reverend Vincent Mulry, S. J., Rector of Jesuit High School, treasurer and the Reverend Dr. Murphy, S. S. J., chairman.

Many Hear Discussion

The Southern section will include Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida.

Attending this meeting were representatives from Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Florida. The work of organizing a large membership will be pushed, announced Dr. Murphy.

A large gathering of Students of the Notre Dame Seminary, Xavier University teachers and students and members of the general public invited of the philosophical discussions in the morning, and the round-table discussions in the afternoon.

The Most Rev. Bishop J. H. Ryan, Rector of the Catholic University in Washington, and president of the national association, telegraphed congratulations to the new group. He was prevented at the last minute from attending the meeting.

The American Catholic Philosophical Association was founded in 1927 by Bishop James Hugh Ryan, Rector of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

THANKSGIVING

(For the Echo)

THANKSGIVING Lord for many things,

For Faith, for Life, and Love;
For Joy which Robin redbreast sings,
For crops blest from above.

'Tis not Wealth nor Pleasures train,
Which thanksgiving would make;
But hearts by trials cleaned in rain,
And deeds done for Try sake.

Thanksgiving Lord, thanks for these all,
Blessings sent in disguise;
In Thy sweet name we praise—we call,
Give light unto our eyes.

FORMER MAYOR CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS PASSES AWAY WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Robert W. Toulme Laid to Rest Thursday Afternoon—Long and Successful Career of Service—Organizer Of Local Order of Woodmen

SUNDAY SCHOOL BUILDING

By Bay St. Louis Methodist Church is Worthy Advancement and Improvement

A frame building will soon rise from foundations already set in the lot rear of Main Street Methodist Church, to be used exclusively for Sunday school purposes, a need that has been felt for some time and now which is in process of becoming a reality.

Measuring 32x34, with a 10-foot ceiling, building will contain an interior distribution of space of five rooms, ceiled and substantially built.

Foundations already set is the fine work of H. Wilbur Driver, a guarantee of correctness and skillfulness, while the general contract for the frame work has been awarded to Contractor and Builder Edw. Osbourne, of Bay St. Louis. Due to inclement weather and delay in procuring material work has been temporarily halted. However, Mr. Osbourne states work will soon be resumed and the building will rapidly progress. Roof will be of shingles to correspond with that of the church. The walls of Celotex.

Building committee of the church is composed of E. S. Drake, H. Wilbur Driver, Dr. James A. Evans, W. A. McDonald.

This building promises to be well worthy of the object it will serve and we are glad to note the cause of the church will be so adequately served.

Pastor J. E. Gray has been re-appointed for another year and enters upon the new year of duties with renewed enthusiasm and inspiration.

Girl Scouts Practice Carols Hope for new Lieutenant

The elder scouts of Girl Scout Troop One of Bay St. Louis, along with some of the Boy Scouts have begun practicing songs to be sung on Christmas Eve under the direction of Mrs. W. U. Moss. They met for the first time on Sunday, November 25, and intend to hold a rehearsal sometime during the coming week. Meanwhile all intend to become familiar with the words of the carols.

The Troop is in hopes that Miss Lydia Boyd Blount will consent to be its Lieutenant. Miss Blount, as we all know, is one of our grade teachers at Bay High and enjoys working with the younger girls. We should be very glad to have Miss Blount with us.

EDITH JACOBS, Scribe.

Seafood Commission Inspects Oyster Reefs

The Mississippi Seafood Commission inspected all of the Mississippi oyster reefs Tuesday aboard the commission boat Alethia Vardaman, finding oysters plentiful upon the reefs but the past season has been bad and the young oyster has not grown as in previous years. They also found that oysters have made more progress in the last month than all during the entire summer, much of which is due to the recent rains and colder weather. It will be necessary for all oyster fishermen to have culling irons on their boats this year and cull oysters at the place they are caught. In doing so Mississippi will have more oysters than ever found on the reefs. The factories are willing to pay a better price this year for good oysters, this culling law will be enforced to the letter.

Members of the commission making the trip included E. H. Bacot, Pascagoula, president, Stewart Spence, Ocean Springs, vice-president; Louis Hahn, Biloxi, Dr. D. H. Ward, Bay St. Louis, Vincent Smith, Pass Christian, members of the commission; M. R. Mosley, secretary and Louis Staehling, chief inspector. The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, December 3.

Subscription

Price . . . . .
To The Sea Coast Echo, $2.00 per annum, payable in advance. Single copies, 5 cents. No complimentary subscriptions or copies.

Funeral of Robert W. Toulme, who died at his residence, Main street, Wednesday night at 10:10 o'clock, took place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with ceremony of the Catholic church and interment in the family burial plot at Cedar Rest Cemetery where his forefathers rest.

The deceased had been ailing for quite a while but eighteen months ago he was severely stricken and held to his room and bed ever since. A long siege which he suffered quietly and with utmost christian resignation.

Robert W. Toulme was a son of the late Captain John V. Toulme, and Martha Carr, born in Bay St. Louis on Christmas Day and had he lived to that sacred feast day of this year he would have completed his 75th year. He was educated at St. Stanislaus college, a musician in his time of more than ordinary merit; a man of business ability and one who in early life at once took his place in the world.

Like his father, he served the city of Bay St. Louis in the executive office of mayor, serving two consecutive terms, from 1910-12 and 1912-14. His administration was marked with success. He inaugurated many of the first improvements that formed the turning point for Bay St. Louis. He was progressive and left the office with an indelible stamp of meritorious accomplishment.

Organized Local Woodmen

Mr. Toulme was the originator of the thought of Cedar Grove Camp, W. O. W., 507, and one of its organizers. He was the first consul commander and held this high office for twelve years or more. It was under his administration the present spacious and handsome Woodmen Hall was built, and he is said to the credit of his associates and self that the heavy obligation incurred in building was in a comparative time discharged. The fact Woodmen Hall was built and cleared of debt, and still remains free of incumbrance is a matter of frequent talk. It is one of the largest halls of its kind in the state.

Among the many floral offerings was one from the local Woodmen organization.

Mr. Toulme was in the market business for many years during the better years of his life and it was always said he would never sell anything but that of the better quality.

He was quite a home lover, devoted to his wife and children. He was a successful grower of vegetables and flowers of this section. All of this called him and kept him closer to his home, the place he loved best and where he was not only husband and father to his family but a companion as well.

In early life he married Miss Antoinette Estapa, daughter of another old and well known Coast family, residing at Pass Christian. This union was an unusually happy one and was blessed with a number of children. In addition to the widow the following sons and daughters survive:

Mrs. Pearl V. Schmie, of New Orleans; Mrs. Dora Gray of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. T. B. Seller of Gulfport; Mrs. L. J. Seller, of Bogalusa, La.; Mr. Millard Toulme, of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Evans Hirth of Gulfport.

A married son, John, passed away during October of 1934, a resident of Bogalusa. It is beside the remains of this son his body was laid away.

A sister, Mrs. Lucy Toulme Mitchell, resident of Gulfport, survives. He was also a cousin of Wm. E. Saucier and Mrs. Lydia Saucier Eagan, both residents of Bay St. Louis.

The mound at Cedar Rest is covered with a wealth of beautiful flowers from friends and other sympathizers of the family who also have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their loved one.

Puzzle: The Letter B; Answer to Be Revealed In Next Week's Echo

The letter B, the second letter of the Alphabet, is a small letter but a very much overworked one, that may be the cause of its bent form. It is the beginning of over 10,000 and helps make many others.

On December 7, and 8 it will be the beginning of a most important word—important to a certain committee and should be equally as important to you.

It will be a six letter word (Oh, no, it isn't Beauty) and has something to do with benefit and buying. Now don't get excited because it has six letters—just wait for next week's Echo and find the answer.

CHRISTMAS TRADE SHOULD BE BIG FOR THIS SECTION

OUR juxtaposition to New Orleans should be no bar for a great shopping and business this Christmas season. For, after all, the season of buying will be just what we—the buyer and seller—make it.

It has been entirely too common this habit of running over to "the city" to purchase every little trifle one may need or wish. Results to the effect are that the merchant can hardly be expected to carry certain stock if the trade is not forthcoming. And on the other hand this applies equally as truthful if the merchant fails to offer such goods and prices as the big city offers.

It is not expected the local merchant to carry similar or extensive stocks as the great department store, but to procure trade here must first be something offered for sale; there must be a display and backed up with liberal amount of advertising—just as the city store away gets the bulk of its trade.

The Echo is very anxious to see this Christmas season, now at hand, to be the biggest in history. It can be done. And should be accomplished. This is easy by a mutual understanding between seller and buyer. One must have the goods, variety, selection, etc. The other that proper spirit and understanding to buy at home.

Soon both local banks will turn loose many thousands of dollars in our midst. Much will go back to the banks, but possibly a greater portion to Christmas shopping. Let us hope this shopping will be largely at home.

A DRAMATIC CLUB WOULD NOT BE AMISS

SUCCESS of the production of a play by local talent in our midst Friday evening should prove a great incentive to further this sort of improvement and entertainment.

True and again has been proven considerable histrionic talent exists in our community. Men and women, young men and young ladies have appeared from time to time and manifested talent in more than the ordinary sense. Musicians, vocalists are neither in small number. A play as produced here last week with an additional chorus or single or vocal duet cast would not be amiss. This would prove a sustaining feature.

It seems the time is ripe for the organization of a dramatic club, to study and be properly directed. Possibly professionally trained as far as possible. The results ultimately attained would not be the only point worth striving for but there would be considerable interest in the hours spent in study. That point of contact so essential to every day life, the kindred subjects that would enlighten and give a different slant are elements involved well worthy.

The Echo, ever wishing to be a force for the constructive and for improvement offers the foregoing suggestion in that spirit. And also for the reason we are of the opinion such a club would not be amiss. Other cities have their Little Theater enterprise. Why not start a dramatic club?

FOR MORE PAINT AND REPAIRS

OF late it has been noted in instances more than on several dwelling houses have been both renovated and given proper coating of paint. Paint is essential to the protection and adding value to the property.

One can never understand why owners allow their property to deteriorate to extent that all rental or selling values are practically gone.

One sees from time to time "For Rent" pasteboards as well. And then one wonders how does the owner expect to rent or sell. What is there to sell? And, again, what is there to rent?

A party recently wishing to rent a certain beach house for the season, after visiting, asked where was the bath. The answer, that killed the trade, came quickly, "You bathe in the lake."

This incident in the major well illustrates our point. The conclusion then for all concerned is to maintain our improved real estate to the proper extent, enhance our values by so doing and further have something to offer to the prospective renter and the buyer as well.

This plan of action would count much for the general beauty and attractiveness of our town. Visitors come for our climate, water and scenery; our schools and other advantages, but they will not remain if proper housing is absent.

ASKING FOR A UNIFIED SPIRIT

IN A card of thanks recently published in the columns of this newspaper, signed by the Mayor-designate, it is noted that a plea is made for co-operation—from every resident, property owner or taxpayer residing in Waveland.

This position is well taken and should appeal to the right-thinking people. Mayor Bourgeois fully realizes he can accomplish but very little with his hands tied, so to speak. Without the assistance of his people his efforts will be stultified and his work in vain. Co-operation means much. It accomplishes great things. And if Waveland is going forward with its program of progress it is going to be necessary that the present spirit and willingness to co-operate continue.

We are of the opinion Waveland and adjacent territory has great future. Already the town is on the threshold of a new era. Much might be planned and hoped for. To realize these ambitions, however, is another phase of the subject. But with all pulling for the same objective there will be no difficulty. That seems to be the way we do it in Bay St. Louis.

L. S. U. STUDENTS SUSPENDED

THERE is quite a to do over in Louisiana at the State University located at Baton Rouge and just what will be the ultimate outcome is watched with interest.

It appears a censorship has been established over the school paper, The Reveille and the student editorial and reportorial staff have resented it in terms unmistakable.

Senator Long recently caused to be appointed an L. S. U. student from McComb, Miss., a successor, to State Senator Sanders, resigned, because of his election to Congress. Of course it was known, Mickal had not reached his majority, neither was he a resident of Louisiana and far from eligible to holding such a seat and for the major reason as well he had not been elected. He was urged by those responsible for his "appointment" to take his seat at the recent special short session of the Legislature and also was assured of his $10.00 per day pay, etc.

But the young man appears to be level-headed. The vanity of the thing did not turn his head. He very adroitly said he was a student and under the rules and discipline of the university could not leave his classes, even for ten days. And further, even if he had wished to go. Then to save the situation, a member of the legislature introduced a motion, carried, that Mickal be given a ten-day leave of absence. This closed the incident, saved the young man much embarrassment and was an evidence of sanity and that he would be the subject of shafts of critics that were bound to follow.

The Reveille took issue with this incident, expressing itself in a manner within the bounds of the liberty and prerogative of a free and untrammelled press. It appears, from newspaper reports, the article in question in proof form came before the view of Senator Long, who immediately issued an edict "killing" the article. And establishing a censorship over the university press that never heretofore existed.

This censorship to stand regarding all future editions of the paper. To this "gag rule" the staff of the press revolted. Subsequently they were removed. Following this they issued a statement to the press and public, duly signed. President Smith took exception to this on the grounds, as stated, that such a statement and petition asking for reinstatement had not first been presented to him as the head of the institution. And in turn, on Tuesday, suspended twenty-six students, young men and women.

The firm stand taken by the student press staff was backed by a flow of letters and telegrams that came from many parts of the State. It has now become a fight by both students and public combined. Two distinct alignments, each fighting for the things they contend to be right. And the outcome is to be watched with interest. It is hardly expected the university will go over to the other side, even though they, the other side, be fully within certain rights. And hardly will they allow Senator Long to be repudiated—at least, not in this instance.

We are of the opinion that both Senator Long and President Smith will stand "pat." Although we do not subscribe to the idea of drastic censorship.

CHRISTMAS TRADING BEGINNING

CHRISTMAS goods are unmistakably making their appearance in the stores of larger communities adjacent to Bay St. Louis and Waveland and local stores are beginning to display their wares for the greatest season of the year. It is the wise shoppers who are getting wiser without waiting upon the "shop early" slogan to spur their buying. Later, we are of the opinion, articles of Christmas time will cost possibly more.

There are many things one may buy at home without resorting to the full page and other larger ads of the city papers. One may buy almost any type of radio in Bay St. Louis. Also buy an automobile for Christmas at home, buying from people one is acquainted with. This is always a protection against comebacks. Adjustments are easier and may be more amicably settled by merchants you personally know.

Then there is no end of other articles. At the haberdashery, at the ladies' departments. Bicycles, toys and down the line. Many novelties and inexpensive gifts may be had at home for boys and girls, men and women. It is the business community that pays the bulk of taxes, shoulders the many calls and burdens of the year and makes possible public and other improvements meaning so much to the town in which we live.

Of course, The Echo has no disposition to tell people where they should buy. We admit they are the better judges. But this is simply a reminder in parenthesis. We hope the stores will meet the demand.

NEW HOUSING ACT

UNDER terms of the new federal housing act it is easy to procure such money from local banks or homesteads with which to rehabilitate one's home. To repair and improve such premises, to preserve it from further deterioration.

It appears all one has to do is to fill the official questionnaire or application for such. Then he or she must state their visible means of repaying such loan back within a period of three years. This executed without mortgage or signature of endorsers. The local institution simply makes the loan and the government backs and protects it. That is if the bank first sees fit to make such a loan.

Filing of such questionnaire must be truthful to the very letter. Must tell of the applicant's income and ability to meet the monthly payments. If misrepresentations are made federal authorities will later find it out and criminal charges will be filed.

This seems an easy way to procure a lump sum of money at one time for immediate purposes. One may wish to paint or otherwise improve his house. Possibly to build an addition or anything that is essential.

Mrs. J. Carmichael is local representative for the government and may be interviewed for further definite information.

SAUNTERINGS From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

SOUTH Texas Wolf Hunters Association held its annual field trials at Campbellton, Texas, 40 miles south of San Antonio last week. More than 200 hounds from all parts of Texas, Missouri, and Oklahoma participated. Vice President, John N. Garner, and Congressman Dick Kleberg were among the thousands who thronged to the scene of this thrilling hunt.

Campbellton is a picturesque little cattle town jutting a modern, paved highway leading to the Rio Grande valley. Scattered among its dense miles of mesquite and cactus growth are typical ranches and herds of grazing cattle. Here one finds the real cow boy, amid all the true settings depicted in wild west fiction. Lean, powerful, their faces burned the color of saddle leather by exposure to sun and wind, these modern day "vaqueros" are daring and expert horsemen. Ten-gallon hats, fancy cowboy boots, hand-made leather chaps, dangling spurs, and leather or canvass jackets are the popular form of attire, worn by these cattlemen. Even the little tots sport wide-brimmed sombreros and boots, and talk the drawing lingo of the open range. The girls and women are of hearty pioneer type, who ride, shoot, and bear the brunt of their strenuous existence along with the men folk. This section of the state furnishes many of the rodeo performers popular in this realm of sport throughout the world.

As entertainment for the wolf hunters and spectators gathered at Campbellton for the meet, there was a round-up camp fire with vivid and thrilling true experiences of the open range related by old-time cow punchers. A fiddler's contest, lariat contest, jiggling and clog dancing, and barbecued beef and goat meat was served with other ranchman's food from a still used chuck wagon.

There is an abundance of wild animal life in this section. Wolves are found in countless numbers, and are a source of much annoyance to cattlemen, who welcome hunters from San Antonio over weekends. Due to the thick mesquite and cactus growth, it is almost impossible to will off these ravages of cattle, goats, and young colts. Bobcats are likewise plentiful, and mountain lion sometime stray into this region from along the Rio Grande.

TODAY is the birthdate of Mark Twain, who was born in 1835. This famous author and humorist's real name was Samuel L. Clemens. He died in 1910 at the venerable age of 75 years. His many universally read and loved works are, and the Prince and the Pauper.

LAST week we mentioned that Senator Huey P. Long's possessions down yonder among the bayous and everglades, had been renamed, "Longisiana" instead of Louisiana. One of our helpful critics a Mr. J. E. Murray, who, incidentally, should have been a newspaperman instead of a tobacco company executive, figuratively tweaks our nose with a correction that the new southern kingdom, formerly Louisiana, should henceforth be known as "Hueysiana." Now if some of our readers will come to our aid with a fitting insignia for "Hueysiana's" flag, we feel certain Emperor Kingfish will draw up the constitution, and draw out the new currency.

P. S. — Football uniforms would be fitting costume de rigueur at all functions of state.

AS a means of safeguarding San Antonio's blind against injury by automobile drivers when crossing streets those so handicapped, have been issued white canes, finished in red at the bottom. They also carry whistles to attract attention. Police have joined in a campaign to educate motorists and the general public of the new identification of the blind, in order that everyone can share in making lighter the burden they must bear.

LATE theatre crowds in the downtown district are getting wise to a little Mexican boy, who has a sympathy gag worked down to fine perfection. Ly-

TWO MILLION DOLLARS OF SPURIOUS MONEY TURNED OUT IN N. J.

This Crime is Constituted an Insult to the Government; Money Must be Backed

The Secret Service has added a feather to its already well decorated cap by bagging a party of counterfeiters operating in New Jersey. About two million dollars in bad money have been turned loose in less than two years. Some of it was so fair upon its face that it passed the officials of banks and was caught up only when it reached the Treasury. Counterfeiting often is condemned simply as an insult to the majesty of the government of the United States, much as condemnation would follow the stoning of a consul or the tearing down of a flag that floated over it. The ground for suppressing the imitation of money rests upon a basis more secure than sentiment or pride. Every one has asked himself now and then if there were not counterfeit which was so well executed that nobody could detect its falsity. Therein lies the real danger of tolerating the manufacture of spurious money. Once let it be recognized that paper money is being turned out with no standard of value behind it, and backed not even by a genuine promise to pay, and business will be thrown back to barter days, when furs were exchanged for tomahawks and beads.

ing on a bench five or six copies of the evening's editions, the young racketeer breaks into convulsive sobbing as theater goers start for home. Someone walks up to inquire about his troubles. In pitiful broken English he tells how he must sell his remaining papers before he can go. He is tired, sleepy and very hungry. Sympathy is quickly aroused. He is given the price of his unsold papers—oftimes much more. He ducks into an alley and waits a few minutes, for his benefactor to leave the scene. The sob story is enacted several times before the last theater patron leaves the building.

THE darkey shoe shine boy in a suburban barber shop gave us a lowdown on the customers. The boy always rubs the customer's shoes whether they care for a shoe shine or not. He claims one Scotch-inclined customer always comes to the shop with fresh paste on his shoes. Thus the shine boy must give a free shine. Another customer, we were told, requests just 10 cents worth of hair trimmed off his head. Probably the depression, or a Scotch neighborhood accounts for these idiosyncrasies.

ADDED signs of Xmas' approach. . . . Brilliant poinsettias in bloom. Store windows ablaze with tinsel tree decorations and toy shops already advertising for fat, jolly, middle aged gents to play the part of . . . . A general trend toward better deportment reported by school teachers of little tots since the middle of November. That haggard look on Dad's face, as he visualizes the hail of after Xmas bills, the tempting odor of mince meat, and array of cranberries on display at the groceries—and Allen, the darky elevator boy already throwing hints about wanting Santa Claus to bring him a pint of gin. Just 24 more days to go.

GRATITUDE—AMERICA
(Meridian Star)

FROM too much love of living. From hope and fear set free. We thank with brief thanksgiving Whatever gods may be, That no man lives forever, That even the wisest and the truest, That even the dearest of us, Must leave the world we see.

Thanksgiving Day—next Thursday!

An American custom—part of American life; parcel of our new world spirit.

An epitome of historic struggle, the symbol of up-reaching faith. Recognition of our debt as finite children to an Infinite Father.

The ways of the world are often beyond our understanding. Throughout the man-made universe, glare seeming ill omens. Tottering thrones and falling governments—

Changing boundary lines and unstable, worthless currencies—

Rotting financial structures, unemployment, hunger and disease.

Back-room diplomats—dark room diplomacy.

Europe drunk with war, but unrepentant—

Millions for huge armies—not one cent to pay just debts.

In the Orient, Japan takes cruel toll of lesser nations.

Everywhere, trouble and distress and hate and greediness.

In the United States, we likewise, have our troubles.

Nonetheless, amid the clamor and confusion, America still stands—

Bewildered and uncertain, but grateful and unshaken.

Our institutions are still sound. Our citizens nobly strive to "carry on."

Our children, in the main, are clothed and fed.

Our people are at peace. We are unimpaired by so-called "entangling alliances."

"Friendship for all—partnership with none."

In ancient Italy—Mussolinism—

In changing Germany—Hitlerism. In many other capitals—dictatorship and tyranny.

In Washington—Franklin Roosevelt, humanitarian.

In Europe, the same old trickery and "card-sharping"—

In America—a new day and a new deal—

A fair and square "break" for high and low and rich and poor, alike.

Thank God for able, understanding leadership—

Thank God for our America!

ASKED in Washington why he ran for the U. S. Senate replied Senator-elect Bibb, "To get a parking place for my car."

Senator-elect Bibb in company with Senator Senator Pat Harrison called on United States top man Roosevelt, and afterwards expressed enthusiastic endorsement of the president, and further asked a favor of the newsmen. Said he, "I want you fellows to do me a favor. Correct the impression that I came up to

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

APPRECIATIONS—

The rural three act play, entitled, "Look Out Lizzie" presented last Friday night proved a great success. S. J. A. wishes to express its thanks to the Parents' Club, who sponsored it, to the Municipal Band who furnished the music, to the director, and finally to all who cooperated so willingly to insure its success.

SODALITY NOTES—

In an effort to brighten the hearts of some poor families on Thanksgiving Day and to give them something additional for which to be thankful, the Sodality distributed baskets of food among the most deserving of the parish.

Plans for a joint reception of all members into the Sodality to be held December 8th were discussed at last week's meeting.

ATHLETICS—

On Saturday December 8th at 8 o'clock, the J's will meet the Dashaways of New Roads, Louisiana. At the initial game of the season with the Red Stickers, the J's were downed by a double defeat. But at the next game they are determined to show that they have the same pep and the same fighting spirit as the former J's, and that this time victory will be theirs.

Come to the gym, December 8th, and help them make good their boast.

Washington to stand by the party, the platform and the president."

The conduct of Senator-elect Bibb since his election indicates that he is sincere in this statement. He has continued his characteristic humorous wise cracking which is too typical of the Man Bilbo. But his actions have been such as to suggest an earnest zeal to become a helpful and constructive senator. On this basis the senator-elect should receive the whole-hearted endorsement of Mississippians regardless of factional beliefs. Unintentionally he should be encouraged in this stand.

OUR ABE

(McComb Enterprise)

THEY tried to make a state senator out of our Abe Mickal by means of the well oiled machine route, but Our Abe kept his head.

Lindbergh hit Paris when the world thrilled at his feat. But when the world settled down to common earth again they appreciated Lindy most because he kept his head when most people would have been swept off their feet.

Our Abe decided that he would rather stick to his books than to mix up with Louisiana politics. Of course, it was all in the spirit of joviality, but government should not be taken for a frolic. It is too serious a problem.

Will Rogers agrees that it would not be right to demote our Abe by making a senator out of him.

Our Abe is headed for "All American." He deserves it. But like Lindy, Abe holds his head in the midst of fame and splendor. And for it all his fame will not die so soon, but may yield only to greater triumph.

CAPITOL ACTIVITIES

(By Walker Wood, Secretary of State)

D. N. N. Whitfield, in charge of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health, is receiving from Washington daily the cards in the "Register your baby" campaign. Mr. Whitfield's department thoroughly checks these cards to see what babies born in the state during the past twelve months, have not been registered in his department. He states he expects there will be some fifteen to twenty thousand received before the campaign is ended.

The Textile Starch Factory, a $150,000 Federal project, has been formally opened at Laurel. This new Mississippi industry uses sweet potatoes for the manufacture of Textile starch, and is the consummation of many months of research work by Federal chemists and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture.

The State Board of Health has recently completed a new addition to its laboratory at the Old Capitol. This will add greatly to its facilities in serving the Mississippi public. A new and modern animal pen, with a concrete floor, and enclosed in a cyclone proof iron fence, has also been completed. This pen is where small animals such as rabbits, guinea pigs, and white mice are raised and housed from which the State Board of Health manufactures much of its serum for distribution.

Dr. W. F. Bond, state superintendent of education, has been quite busy during the past two weeks, engaged in a speaking tour during the Better School campaign of the State Education Department. He frequently made as many as six speeches per day, and was assisted by the County Superintendents of Education of the counties he visited during the campaign.

Mrs. Mary Baker, of the Rehabilitation Division of the Mississippi Department of Education states that the largest contribution thus far received for use of Mississippi Crippled Children aid, was from a person who was aided by this department to become self-supporting. A survey shows that there are nine thousand cripples in Mississippi under 25 years of age; that more than one-half of these can be physically restored to practically normal; one-third can be greatly helped and nearly all of them can be made self-supporting if given treatment, training and placement. 150 boys and girls have been placed in colleges by this department, of which Dr. W. F. Bond, Old Capitol, Jackson, Miss., is treasurer.

Which Is The Left Side of An Oyster Is Question Now Asked

A well-known writer of interesting information for the press says that oysters always lie on their left sides, a statement giving rise to the question: Which is the left side of an oyster? Speaking of oysters, when things look worst, there is generally a way out. From Chesapeake Bay comes the story of a fish which, trapped in an oyster shell, ate the oyster. The illustration loses a little of its force by reason of the fact that we are not told what the man who opened the oyster shell did with the fish. Anyway, give the imprisoned denizen of the deep proper credit for doing his best in a desperate situation.

Laws of 1932, changing the date of general elections of municipalities not operating under special charter to the second Tuesday in December. The Attorney General holds that such municipalities must hold their elections on that date—second Tuesday in December, 1934, in order to be legal, in compliance with Chapter 226, laws of 1932.

Another Federal Agency will be moved to Jackson December First, that of Forest Supervisor of the Desoto National Forest. R. M. Conarro, is the supervisor in charge, and the agency will be housed in the new Federal building recently opened in Jackson. This national forest is composed of about one million and a half acres.

In addition to regular routine business the Secretary of State's department has been busy this week mailing out commissions to Senator-elect and Congressman-elect selected at the recent general election held on November the sixth.

Already the receipts from the eight taxes collected by the State Tax Commission, have exceeded the whole year of 1933 collections, according to Hon. Alf Stone, chairman of the commission, and he says indications point to collections in excess of

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

EVERYBODY'S thrilled—when the pleasing ribbon of light gray concrete swings into view.

The nervous tension, generated by ordinary roads, disappears. Conversation resumes. Everybody feels better on the true and even surface of concrete.

The car leaps ahead faster... smoother... safer. Tires sing. The steering wheel feels firm, free from road shocks. Motoring zest is quickly regained.

Concrete roads are safer... you're less apt to skid. You'll stop more quickly, more surely. There's less chance of blow-outs. Light, clean-cut edges make visibility much better at night. Your car operates more economically.

Route your course over concrete. Stay on it. Insist on it.

Choctaw county was the banner county in the state in north Mississippi, and Lamar county in South Mississippi. Fewer permits for shipping of potato plants into the state were issued in 1934 than in 1933, showing Mississippi farmers are now using Mississippi Certified Sweet Potato plants.

SUPREME COURT TO BE ASKED TO PASS UPON MUCH ABOUT NOTHING

Bonds Paid in a Different Money Beside That Kind Species Specified.

When a case is being heard in court, a layman often has difficulty in understanding what it is that the contestants are quarreling about. Whoever happens to be in the Supreme Court of the United States on a date early in January will listen to the argument of a cause which is so simple, as to the question involved, that the wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein. Several persons who owned bonds payable in a kind of money specified in the bond were paid in a different currency. They brought suit to compel settlement in the particular sort of money for which the bond called.

On the surface it appears as though Mr. Jones or Mrs. Smith were dissatisfied with something and had carried a private matter to the limit of appeal. It happens, however, that gold was agreed upon as the medium of payment, that before the time of payment, the federal authorities had called in all the gold, and that payment was made on a different basis. The case of Norman vs. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, then, does not mean simply that Mr. Norman has had trouble with the railroad. The point involved is whether or not the government acted lawfully in taking gold out of circulation. In substance, Uncle Sam himself has been hauled to court. When the decision is handed down, it will touch everyone who has a piece of money in his pocket. At least a generation has passed since the courts have been asked to pass upon so important a matter.

CLERMONT HARBOR RESIDENT PASSES ON FROM HEART ATTACK

Edward Nathan, was Well Known This Section of Coast and Property Owner, Dies Suddenly

Edward Nathan, aged 60, widely known in freight and shipping circles at New Orleans dropped dead of heart disease at his office in Canal Bank building this week, the news reaching here where he was well known as distinct shock and blow to his many friends. Mr. Nathan and family for several years resided all the year 'round at Clermont Harbor, his place of summer residence, and was always in the fore in the activities of community life. His family were equally active, his son and daughter attending Bay St. Louis schools and taking part in kindred activities. The news of his death carries surprise and brings general sorrow.

He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Mary Edith Thomason, and two children, Alice Louise and Edward Kendrick Nathan. He lived at 1679 Robert street.

Born in New Orleans, Mr. Nathan attended the public schools of the city and later went to Tulane university. He first went to work with the Southern Pacific railroad, remaining in their employ for 11 years.

Afterwards he joined the Leyland Steamship company and was assistant manager of the Leyland line there during his 10 years in their employ. At one time he was a partner in the firm of Nathan and Feltis, engaged in the shipping business, but in later years operated his own freight brokerage business in Canal Bank building.

He was active in the interests of the port of New Orleans, advocating in 1925 the control of waterfront facilities here by the Dock Board, but operation by the Public Belt railroad. While Senator Long was governor he was considered for appointment as a member of the Dock board, but the appointment never materialized.

COLLEGE BAND MAKES HIT WITH VISITORS AT FOOTBALL GAMES

Drum-Major Van Platter Leads in Fine Style

The College Band under Brother Romauld has made a decided hit with all visitors to the recent football games. Besides the fine music dispensed the marching of the band with the forming of the letters of the visiting team and that of Stanislaus has added color to the game as such as Stanislaus has not experienced in several years.

The rooting too, has been greatly helped by the presence of the band members. Through the good work of Rusty Anderson, Gene Sandoz and C. J. Stockton the cheer leaders, a real rooting club has been formed.

New tricks and new stunts are in process of formation for the basketball season which will open soon after the Christmas holidays.

The benefits many women obtain from Cardui give them great confidence in it. "I have four children," writes Mrs. J. L. Norred, of Lagrange, Ga. Cardui did more to allay the nausea at these times than anything I have ever used. I am in very good health and believe Cardui did a lot of it." Thousands of women testify to the same thing. If it does not benefit you, consult a physician.

PARENTS' CLUB PROMISES LOUNGING ROOM TO THE BOYS

Futuristic Furniture Predominates; Radio To Be Installed

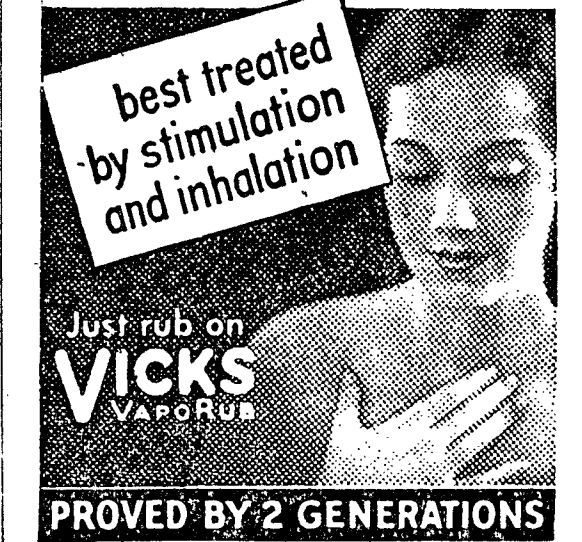

At last the great secret has been disclosed. For several weeks the former little study hall has been the scene of much activity; the walls have been painted; the wood-work given a glossy coat of varnish, and last Sunday morning a big truck arrives, backs up to the door and unloads chairs, lounges, tables and what-not to bring about a transformation that is seen only in the best clubs.

All this has been accomplished by the members of the Parents' Association. The room will be used by the members for their meetings. It will be an ideal place for the boys to meet their parents and friends, and best of all it will have that "homey" atmosphere where the boys can while away a couple of hours in peace.

The boys are so appreciative of the find that they want all the friends of the school to visit the College, but most of all to visit their "Club Room."

Let's Make It a Golden Eagle

Most of the business firms in this territory have signed up under the Blue Eagle, but complying with Codes in the matter of hours, wages and employment are not to insure a healthy and prosperous life for our blue-plumaged friend.

Increased wages, if they are hoarded wages, or spent in distant communities, will not bring back prosperity.

Increased buying, increased confidence, increased effort—business effort—will bring back lost trade.

Expressed more simply—what every firm flying the Blue Eagle hopes for and needs is more business done the NRA way.

THE EAGLE IN OUR WINDOW MEANS—

Means that we are members of the National Editorial Association, which has been designated the National Code Authority for printers and publishers of our class.

That we are members of the Mississippi Press Association, which is a Regional Code Authority for printers and publishers in Mississippi.

That we pay our dues to these associations.

That we contribute to the expenses of Code Administration. (President Roosevelt has issued an order allowing only those firms which contribute to Code Administration to display the Blue Eagle.)

Our employees are paid wages prescribed by the Graphic Arts Code. As a matter of fact, we pay above the minimum.

We have cut a full day's time off our work week, so as to spread employment and give our employees more time for profitable leisure and home improvement.

We have been the most consistent and effective supporter in this section for the National Recovery Act. Newspaper publicity has proved its value to the NRA.

When you buy from us you buy from a firm that in theory and practice is supporting the National Recovery Act.

Our employees in turn appreciate the business which firms give us. Think of these things when buying advertising and printing.

Advertising will bring you that business. It will loosen the key that is holding back the flow of buying. It will restore the confidence that withered away under the blasts of depression.

Good printing—executed by men who have spent a lifetime in making type live—will recreate the spending idea and cause people to buy the things they need.

Advertising—newspaper advertising—has no equal nor has anything ever taken its place as business and sales promotion. Think this over yourself, then talk to us.

French Explorers

The vision of a great colonial empire was always one to delight the French imagination. La Salle, greatest of the Franco-American explorers, introduced the first idea of a French Colony on the Mississippi. His second expedition missed its destination and he landed on the Texas Coast and was murdered in a mutiny while vainly searching for the mighty river, the mouth of which he had first discovered when claiming Louisiana for France and naming it for his king.

In 1700 the Chevalier de Tonty arrived at d'Iberville's fort with his Frenchmen from Illinois. They went, by request of d'Iberville, to explore the river upstream, establishing Fort Rosalie 400 miles above. The establishment of New Orleans soon afterwards drew off the colonists from the interior to the great port, which also attracted new immigrants.

Nothing in the history of events leading up to the consolidation of the forty-eight states of the Union today is quite so strange as the creation of the French empire of Louisiana and its subsequent secessions and sale; a vast chattel of non-resident ownership.

Ceded to Spain

In 1763 France handed over Louisiana to Spain to make good the loss which the latter nation had met in coming to her aid in the great contest with England. The new colony was laboriously taken over, remaining under the Spanish system until acquired by the United States, although Spain retroceded it to France, from which nation the purchase was made.

The amazing rise of those remarkable men, Napoleon and Talleyrand, from the chaos of the French Revolution, had its effect on the fate of pioneers on the banks of the "father of Waters." Before the fall of the Bastille the French colony of Santo Domingo on the Island of Haiti was the most attractive place for the residence of well-to-do whites in the American sub-tropics. In 1795, only seven years after the Bastille had fallen and Napoleon had arisen from its dust, Toussaint l'Ouverture described as a "black Napoleon" led a revolution of the Santo Domingo negroes against the French whites and set up a government of his own race.

Napoleon, dreaming of the reconquest of Santo Domingo and the enslavement of its negro population, bargained successfully with Spain for the retrocession of Louisiana.

Fortunately for the trend of history, which was to build the greatness of the United States, this dream of empire was shattered by events in the negro kingdom dominated by the colored despot, Toussaint. Half a million Santo Domingo negroes fought Napoleon's brother-in-law, Leclerc, tooth and nail. At the head of ten thousand French soldiers Leclerc fought in vain, for the negroes were aided by the yellow fever, a foe France could not vanquish by force of arms.

Napoleon, infuriated at his inability to conquer Santo Domingo with any means at his command, decided that Louisiana without the conquest of Haiti was of no use to France.

He saw that the transfer of Louisiana to the United States would help to create a world power in America and one likely to challenge sea supremacy of Great Britain, serious opponent to his ambitions in Europe. Robert R. Livingstone, friend of Jefferson and Minister to France, had been negotiating for the purchase of the island of New Orleans and of West Florida from France. Dancing attendance on Talleyrand, he was astounded, on April 11, 1803, to be asked whether the United States wished to purchase the whole of Louisiana. Bargaining commenced. Although Talleyrand asked questions, the French side of the negotiations was placed by Napoleon in the hands of Francois de Barbe Marbois, and it was Marbois and Livingstone who concluded the sale and purchase, with James Monroe, who had just arrived in France, taking part. Louisiana was sold to the United States for fifteen million dollars.

Statehood Achieved

These were the events transpiring across the "father of waters" about the time that the Territory of Mississippi was created by Congress in 1798. Such stirring times found the Territory of Mississippi advancing towards the Statehood that she won in 1817 as the twentieth star in the constellation of Old Glory.

As state after state followed her, they studied her struggle up the ladder to political maturity, they compared their own status to hers prior to 1817, they found strength in the precedents which she had established.

Hawaii Ambitions

airplane flight of the California coastline, the Territory of Hawaii wants the honor of adding the forty-ninth star to our national flag. The history of Hawaii is so unusual, her economic status so significant, that her claim to statehood status is well worth a quick survey.

Superficially, Hawaii seems entirely different from the Mainland states. But underneath this superficial difference is a basic similarity which is all the more impressive because it has evolved in a period of only one hundred and fourteen years.

In 1820 the brig "Thaddeus" carried a group of New England missionaries to Hawaii, landing there after a stormy one hundred fifty seven days voyage around the Horn. They brought with them New England ideals of religion and a staunch Americanism which flourished and expanded in the new soil. For eighty years these missionaries and their descendants were loyal subjects of the Hawaiian monarchy. Only when that monarchy became hopelessly out of step with the democratic life of the people did they aid in its overthrow, established a Republic, which after a few years independence, was annexed to the United States with its own consent in 1900.

New England Traditions

These early New England settlers, viewed in retrospect, were men and women of extraordinary character—self sufficient, self reliant and at times so reserved that they failed to attain a complete understanding with casual visitors. It is the fact, plus a natural disinclination for personal publicity or self praise, which has contributed so largely to the misunderstanding concerning the Territory which still prevails.

Hawaii's economic situation is also unique in that she is one industry locality, and that one—sugar.

industry, for better or worse, must maintain her economic life. Hawaii is sugar, and sugar-dollars provide seventy per cent of the money spent in the maintenance of her 880,000 people. In no other part of the United States is there a situation anything like this. The greatest Mainland industries are relatively small in proportion to the whole. But after years of most careful experimentation and trial, Hawaii has discovered that she is ideally situated to produce sugar efficiently, and in consequence the raising and milling of sugar cane dwarfs all her other activities.

Anything that effects the production and sale of this crop is of pocket-book importance to every citizen of the Territory. The hazard of insect pests is constantly threatening the growing cane like an invisible sword of Damocles. Individual planters were helpless in meeting this menace, so they group themselves into a voluntary league, the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, and by co-operative action have conquered every threat to the growing cane that has invaded the Islands.

Heavy Tax-Payers

Hawaii, applicant for statehood, pays more taxes to the Federal Government than any one of sixteen states; its population is larger than of Delaware, Nevada, Vermont, or Wyoming. It is eager to prove that politically, economically, and socially, it meets every requirement of statehood. Its labor is better paid and better cared for than agricultural labor on the Mainland, the percentage of unemployment is far less than elsewhere in the United States, and there is for the worker an unusually high degree of personal security—a new deal which was in operation in Hawaii long before the New Deal was thought of.

There is on the Island today a spirit very much like that in the original colonies when "Taxation without representation" was the slogan which brought on the Revolutionary War. Hawaii, however, looks forward to no revolution but only an orderly evolution which will bring her to a position of equality within the Union.

The situation is particularly acute at this time because the quotas set up under the Jones-Costigan Act are crippling in their effect on the Hawaiian sugar industry, and therefore are a grave economic menace to the whole Territory. Under these quotas Hawaii will have left on her hands this year and next year alone, 400,000,000 pounds of sugar which she will be unable to ship to the Mainland. She believes that Cuba and the Philippines have been favored at Hawaii's expense, and she regrets that her place as an integral part of the United States and her proven right to statehood should not find more universal recognition.

Problems in territorial history such as these lend increased interest to the story of Mississippi's growth during these one hundred and seventeen years of statehood and of her contributions to national achievement and unity since 1817.

Since 1890

In the period following the Civil War the State of Mississippi was a prey to the disturbing conditions which gripped the South. An era of carpet-baggers and disreputable whites made sport of enlightened government. The institution of 1890 put an end to this, disfranchising ignorance, venality and crime. From this period onward the great State of Mississippi strode forward with assurance and dignity into the front ranks of the progressive commonwealth.

Leading the way towards the abolition of a form of "slavery" that has since been abolished throughout the nation, Mississippi

With The Movies And Film Folks

COLUMBIA is having the same trouble with their "The Captain Hates the Sea," that MGM is experiencing with "The Painted Veil." Each film has been back to the retake stage several times and yet the studios are not quite satisfied with them.

George Burns and Gracie Allen, now completely recovered from their European vacation, are back in Hollywood ready for "Win or Lose," for Paramount. Joe Morrison and Marion Mansfield will be with them.

RKO-Radio released six films this month, among them being "Kentucky Kernels" with Wheeler and Woolsey; "By Your Leave," with Frank Morgan and Genevieve Tobin; "The Woman in the Dark," with Ralph Bellamy and Fay Wray; "Girl of the Islands," with Steffi Duna and Regis Toomey; "Anne of Green Gables," with Anne Shirley and Tom Brown, and "The Silver Streak," with Sally Blane and Charles Starrett.

Madeleine Carroll, English actress, will arrive in Hollywood soon to appear with Clark Gable in Twentieth Century's production of "The Call of the Wild." Miss Carroll's first American-made picture was the Fox production of "The World Moves On."

Glenda Farrell is to be the feminine interest in "Women Are Born Newspapermen," which First National plans to produce after completing "Gold Diggers of 1935."

Paramount has changed the title of "We Without You," to "One Hour Late." Appearing in the principal roles are Joe Morrison and Helen

"JUDGE PRIEST" OFFERS ROGER'S FINEST FILM ROLE

Heart Interest Vies With Laughs and Thrills in Fox Picture

Will Rogers, "whose soul is America," as someone has pointed out, "discovers" still another quarter of our land in the new Fox film, "Judge Priest," at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

A sleepy Kentucky town of the early nineties supplies the background for the newest Rogers vehicle fashioned from the famous Irvin S. Cobb stories of the small town judge and his Civil War cronies. The film gives Rogers probably the finest opportunity of his screen career.

Richer in flavor even than the shrewd Yankee horse trader of "David Harum," the Iowa farmer of "State Fair" or the wise and patient westerner of "They Had to See Paris" the drawing but quickwitted southern purist is a memorable addition to the Rogers gallery of "Representative Americans."

A Splendid Role

The star's portrayal of Judge Priest has the mark of authenticity upon it. It is a notable folk portrait, just as his other characterizations have been: the unique blending of a splendid talent with a rich and splendid role. But more than that, it stands alone for its sheer dramatic power. Seldom has Rogers had such opportunities as his present role affords to his audience.

Irvin Cobb's stories as you will agree after seeing the film, seem to have been written for no one but Rogers. "Why didn't someone think of it before?" is the question that leaps to mind. The star has not been better fitted out with a role in the whole of his career.

BOOK REVIEW

"The Thin Man"

AMONG new books at the Library you will find "The Thin Man" by Dashiell Hammett (Alfred Knopf).

Our idea of a really good detective story is one in which the denouement holds the element of surprise plus a logical explanation of the mystery. This is not easily achieved. Secret passages, poisoned needles of the Borgias, various mechanical devices—these make you feel somehow cheated. After all, anybody can explain anything, given enough rope!

Which goes to show why S. S. Van Dine and others are rather with us. Though wholesale murder—"a holocaust"—rather spoils you for the simple old-fashioned article, it does seem that horror takes the place of science here. Of course Edgar Allan Poe piles on the horror in Murder in the Rue Morgue, but he makes you pay for it in attention to detail and the following up of legitimate clues. The same cold scientific program is followed in "The Mystery of Marie Roget" and "The Purloined Letter." Another criticism of the Van Dine regime is that you develop a knack for spotting the criminal right off, in the beginning. It is just a question of picking the one who couldn't possibly have done the deed—see aged mother, say. One would hate to give up Philo Vance, though, and there is much to justify these stories.

Yes, you do enjoy a nice, chatty, house-party murder, with swell clothes and butlers, as witness "Hide in the Dark" or the stories of Mary Roberts Rhinehart or even of Anna Katherine Green. We are sticking to American writers of detective stories, leading up to the fact that Sinclair Lewis says that Dashiell Hammett is the only really good writer of detective stories indigenous to our soil.

In "The Thin Man" there is a background of New York night-life, with several gangsters and a gigolo thrown in. There are three murders, all of them unobtrusive. If Hammett plays a few tricks on you, it is for dramatic effect—and we know that Shakespeare was not above such.

However, the solution of the mystery is well-worked-out, and you cannot but be grateful to Mr. Hammett for his fair-dealing.

BAY SAINT LOUIS 10 YEARS AGO.

(From the Files of the Sea Coast Echo)

CAPTAIN E. W. Drackett is expecting the arrival of his ferry boat, Cecil N. Bean during the coming week, after an absence of several weeks, during which time the boat underwent a thorough overhauling and renovation, ready for the coming spring and summer seasons. Many improvements have been made to the "Bean" and it will amply be able to take care of increased traffic.

Mr. Bert Sigerson, splendid young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sigerson, after a visit of several weeks to his parents at their home in Main street, from his stay at Shreveport, La., left this week for Clearwater, Fla., where he has become an attaché of the drug store of W. S. Ames. He is an exemplary young man and best wishes for success follow him.

Mrs. W. O. Sylvester was called to Brandon, Miss., Wednesday by a message announcing the death of her mother, Mrs. Emma Patrick, aged 80, who had been in declining health for some time. Mrs. Sylvester, Mrs. Hiram Jones, a sister, and Ellis Patrick, a brother, survive their mother. Mrs. Sylvester has the sympathy of the community.

Joseph O. Mauffray, grand knight of the LeDuc Council, K. C., No. 1522, accompanied by August Schiro, went down to New Orleans yesterday and spent the day in attendance of the obsequies of A. Batistella, of Bay St. Louis and New Orleans, a member of the local council. A beautiful floral design from Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus was one of the numerous floral offerings of sympathy, love and respect sent to the widow and family.

Hotel Weston advertised a Thanksgiving menu, for the price of $1.00.

E. J. Gex was chairman of the decoration committee, Dad's Day, St. Stanislaus College. The town displayed the college colors of red and black.

On the property of F. E. Goldwaite, 129 St. Charles street, there is a solitary tomato bush which sprang into existence by itself, measures about 10 feet in diameter and is 5 feet high, from which the owner has already gathered over 200 of the "fruit." The tomatoes are like tomatoes frequently seen illustrated on covers of seed catalogues—a real picture, medium size shape, smooth skin and a bright red (it was considered at the time quite a curiosity and thing of beauty and profit).

The death of Alphonse Ferdinand Ramond was noted. He was a native of Bay St. Louis, 25 years, 10 months and 17 days. He was one of four sons of Peter Ramond and Ida Carver, and beloved husband of Claire Giotto. In addition to these is survived by two children.

In the same issue of The Echo, ten years ago, the death of Jules Mazrat was also noted, aged 84 years. He was a veteran of the civil war and was wounded in the siege of Vicksburg and made prisoner for two years. He had been a summer resident of Bay St. Louis for over 50 years. Married to the late Bertha Nautre, of eleven children born to this union ten survive.

Charles A. Breath and Ernest Erwin, returning from spending Dad's Day at A. & M. College, while traveling along the G. & S. I. R. R., discovered a house on fire, unknown to the occupants who they aroused and carried them out to a point of safety.

Mrs. R. R. Perkins and daughters also made the trip to A. & M. for the same occasion and to visit Grady Perkins, assistant coach. Mr. Breath had gone to visit his son Chas. A. Jr., was a member of the student body.

W. A. McDonald returned home Tuesday by way of New Orleans from Memphis, Tenn., where he spent several weeks' visit as the house guest of his cousin, Judge Will T. McDonald, at the family home. Mr. McDonald enjoyed the trip and spoke of the activity and prosperity of the Bluff City with enthusiasm. However, he is glad to be back on the Gulf Coast, to home and local friends again.

The boys from the Bay Scout troops who went to the Tulane-Sewanee football game last Saturday reported an excellent time. Jones of Troop 208 on board. Capt. Pears, Scoutmaster, joined the troop in New Orleans. Troop 208 had the honor of leading the parade of hundreds of scouts, into the Tulane stadium. Dana Jacobs and Edwin Fucich were color bearers and David McDonald and Elliott Coward were the color guard. After the game, which everyone thoroughly enjoyed, the boys visited the zoo in Audubon Park. They arrived home tired but happy at ten P. M. and wish to thank the troop committee for arranging the trip.
